FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

McKenney's Ranked as "Best Place to Work" by Charlotte Business Journal Among Large-sized Companies

Charlotte, North Carolina — November 8, 2017 — The company, focused on being the best mechanical service provider to work for as an employee and to work with as a customer, has again been recognized as one of Charlotte's Best Places to Work!

For the fourth time in five years and the second year in a row, McKenney's, Inc. was named one of Charlotte's "Best Places to Work," this year ranking #11 among large-size companies by the Charlotte Business Journal – the city's leading business publication. Readers submitted candidate organizations for the annual award, which recognizes a variety of satisfaction and engagement criteria, such as manager effectiveness, trust in senior leaders, career growth opportunities, benefits plan and team effectiveness.

"Thank you to all of my coworkers that I have the pleasure to work with every day for coming together to make McKenney's such a great place to work," said Steve Smith, the company's vice president of the Carolinas Division. "It's truly an honor to be recognized as one of Charlotte's 'Best Places to Work' again this year."

Each year, the Charlotte Business Journal, in partnership with independent research firm Quantum Workplace, polls area businesses to determine Charlotte's "Best Places to Work." Employees of the nominated organizations complete online surveys regarding work environment, coworkers and managers.
